

Pamela Ferdinand

www.pamelaferdinand.com

I am an experienced and award-winning journalist, published nonfiction author, editor and content creator seeking writing/ghostwriting and editing opportunities. I pride myself on my professionalism, resourcefulness, and keen editor's eye along with my ability to provide high quality and impactful prose.

"As a writer, I would describe Pamela as simply elegant. She writes with beautiful fluidity. Her long experience with complex topics, in both science and economics, has made her expert at translating difficult concepts into language that is understandable to readers without dumbing it down or losing the nuance. She writes and edits with authority."

– Donna Leinwand, USA Today's Managing Editor/former National Press Association president

Experience

Author

"Three Wishes: A True Story of Good Friends, Crushing Heartbreak, and Amazing Luck on Our Way to Love and Motherhood" (Little, Brown & Co. 2010) with foreign rights sold in five countries; film rights optioned by Red Crown Productions ("The Kids Are All Right")

Reporter

The Washington Post (New England correspondent) • The Boston Globe (Metro) • The Miami Herald (Metro)

Contributor

National Geographic News • The Economist • NPR • Frontline • The Chicago Tribune • Boston Magazine • Slate • More magazine • Los Angeles Times • San Francisco Chronicle • MSN • The Huffington Post • The Christian Science Monitor • Daily Mail • This Old House, and more...

Instructor

DePaul University • Lake Forest College • Boston University College of Communication • Emerson College

Professional Memberships

Society of Professional Journalists • Society of Environmental Journalists • Chicago Writers Association • Ghostwriters Association (associate) • American Society of Journalists and Authors (ASJA)

Fellowships • Awards

Pulitzer Prize (National Desk, The Washington Post - 9/11; Public Service, The Miami Herald - Hurricane Andrew; Team Finalist, The Miami Herald - Baby Theresa) • Casey Journalism Center for Children and Families Regional Fellowship • Acadian Institute for Journalism & Natural Resources Environment Fellowship • Massachusetts Institute of Technology Knight Science Journalism Fellowship • Writer Residencies at Vermont Studio Center, Virginia Center for the Creative Arts, Byrdcliffe Colony, and Dorset Colony House

Education

Columbia Graduate School of Journalism • University of London • Tufts University

"Pamela has brought immense professionalism and insight to our brand. She is always open to new topics and researching new subjects, and is not afraid to challenge or question an angle we are working. Apart from being an articulate and poignant writer, she communicates with great ease and a sense of humor, always balancing her credibility as a writer with that of her client."

- Josie Elizabeth Davis, Founder/Creative Producer, Curmudgeon Group

References available upon request.